COMMENTS:

Greg Prudhomme is seeking a waiver for failing to timely amend his 2018 PFD Statement. Mr. Prudhomme stated that the week the certified Amend-Notice of Delinquency was sent and signed for by his wife, that he was out of town for a bank training. He states this was also the week that the state was shut down due to COVID-19. Mr. Prudhomme stated that one of the participants had a child that was sick and tested positive for COVID-19, so all of the class participants had to self-quarantine. He quarantined away from home and assumes this is when the Notice to Amend was received, signed for, and forgotten about by his wife. As soon as he received the Late Fee Notice, he reached out to our agency. He asks the Ethics Board to consider waiving his fine he's been filing since 2010, and has never received a fine.

*Mr. Prudhomme has attached a letter from First Guaranty Bank, VP of Learning & Development as his supporting documentation. Mr. Prudhomme has amended his 2018 PFD and it has been deemed complaint. This is Mr. Prudhomme's first late fee.

To Whom It May Concern:

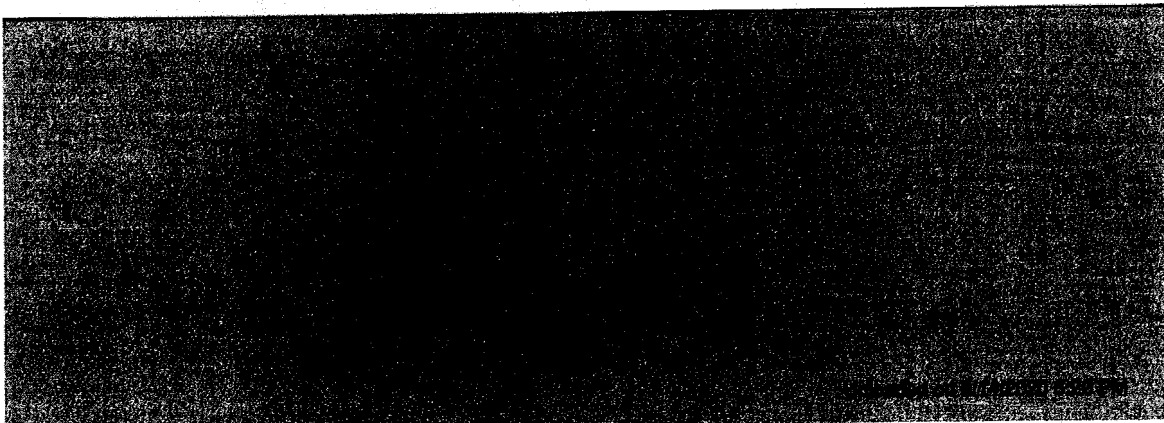

On September 10, I received notification that I was delinquent on an amendment to a 2018 disclosure and that I was being fined $1500.00. I would like to appeal the fine due to the following: The week that the certified document was sent and signed for by my wife I was out of town at a bank training. Please see attached letter for proof. This is also the week that the State was shut down due to COVID-19. One of our participants had a child that was sick and tested for COVID so all our class self-quarantined. I quarantined away from home and I can only guess or assume that the document my wife signed for was forgotten by her and did not make it to my attention. As soon as I received this notice of fine, I reached out to Ms. Ashley Wimberley and will be uploading by email the amendment that was asked for in March.

I am requesting that you reconsider the amount of the fine. Since 2010 I have been filing reports and have never gotten to this point.

Thank you for your consideration,

Greg Prudhomme
